THE BELGIAN HARE.

If His Leglets is to Supplant the Corn-fed Steer as Food Now is His Time to Do It.

Has the beef trust bought up the Belgian hares? Only a few years ago we were told that breeders of those domesticated and cultivated jack rabbits could amass fortunes, that the skins and the fur of the nimble animals would be in constant demand at profitable figures, while the flesh would be so much prized that roast pig, possum fat and poultry snatched from peaceful slumbers in the dark of the moon would be despised in comparison. Henry IV of France declared that he should never be contented until every peasant in his kingdom had a fowl in his pot. The benevolent importers of the agile leapers from the European continent were equally anxious to do good. They were never weary of assuring every body that the Belgian hare was so prolific that he would soon put the stalled ox or the corn-fed steer and the fattened calf to flight as resources of food supply, and that as a delicacy for the table he would excel in exquisite flavor the choicest of terrapin and green turtle, of curried oysters and broiled lobsters, of spring turkeys and Philadelphia capons, of woodcock and canvasback ducks, and even the most delicate of Strasburg pies.

What has become of the Belgian hare? Not many months have passed since his praises were sounded and written in enthusiastic utterances and articles. Col. Mulberry Sellers was hardly more eloquent in describing the glittering treasures which might be secured by the sale of his incomparable remedy for the healing of sore eyes among the swarming millions of Asia and of Africa than the promoters of the Belgian boom were in revealing the opportunities for heaping up riches on farms devoted to the production of the long-eared, bottailed bouncers. But on the bills of fare of American hotels and restaurants hare soups and hare meats in our former no more conspicuous and no more in request than they were a quarter of a century ago, and among the Croesuses of the day it would not be easy to find one whose wealth has been acquired by experiments with the elongated and enlarged conies to the conies. The Old Testament informs us that the conies of primitive times were a feeble folk. Their Belgian kith and kin in this era have failed to sweep everything before them, as their eulogists predicted they would. Has the Belgian hare a future?—N. Y. Tribune.

Out of Death's Jaws.
"When death seemed very near from a severe stomach and liver trouble, that I had suffered for years," writes P. Mase, Durham, N. C., "Dr. King's New Life Pills saved my life and gave perfect health." Best pills on earth and only 25c at Perry & Thomas' drug store.

SECRETS

At the Price of Suffering.

Woman on her way to semi-invalidism caused by pregnancy suffers such pain. Ignorance prompts her to suffer alone in silence and remain in the dark as to the true cause—motherhood. Mother's Friend takes the doctor's place and she has no cause for an interview. She is her own doctor, and her modesty is protected. Daily application to the breast and abdomen throughout pregnancy will enable her to undergo the period of gestation in a cheerful mood and rest undisturbed.

Mother's Friend is a liniment for external use only. It would indeed be shameful if the sacrifice of modesty were necessary to the successful issue of healthy children. All women about to become mothers need send only to a drug store and for $1.00 secure the prize childbirth remedy. Healthy babies are the result of using Mother's Friend. Our book "Motherhood" mailed free. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Cutting Down Hillside Timber

When we see a farmer laying an axe at the roots of forest trees on a hillside which form a nice sady grove under which the stock can seek the shade in summer and protect themselves from the cold blasts in the winter, we feel like enjoining him on the spot. When left with the natural growth of timber on it, the land will produce certain kinds of grass in the more open spots, and at intervals trees may be removed to be used as fuel. But when denuded entirely of its growth it begins to wash and presents a spectacle of unsightly hollows and gullies. Then the efforts of the owner from that time forward must be in the direction of taking preventive measures to stop the washing, in order that the good land above it may not be injured. At a farmers' institute last winter the writer listened to the speaker discuss the methods of preventing land of this character washing, but not one Daniel arose and advised them that the matter should be remedied by getting a good growth of healthy forest trees back on it as soon as possible. Yet this is the only sure cure for hillside washing—all others are merely temporary makeshifts.—Ex.

America's Famous Beauties.

Look with horror on Skin Eruptions, blotches, sores, pimples. They don't have them, not will any one, who uses Buckle's Amica Salve. It glazes the face. Eczema or Salt Rheum vanishes before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains, infallible for Piles. 25c at Perry & Thomas' drug store.

Big Money for Mules.

Last Friday Mr. W. C. Terhune received a dispatch from Mr. Phillip Shindig, of York, Pa., to buy him the best pair of mules in Kentucky. Mr. Terhune wired him that they cost him a big pile of money. The answer was to buy them if they cost $2,000. Mr. C., in company with Jake Brown, went to Lexington and bought Beard & Caruthers' pair of premium mules at $415, and then went to Danville and purchased from Gentry Bros. the blue ribbon pair at the same price. The first two weighed 2,730 pounds, and the others, 2,679. They were shipped in a car by themselves, which cost $100, and the telegraphing and expenses of Mr. C., amounted to $15. Terhune shipped five car loads of broke mules to the East Saturday. The first cost him $30 a head and the latter $110. Ber Sanders bought 80 1,400 lb cattle from Leneer Bros. at 64c. This is said to be the best bunch of cattle that has left Boyle county this year.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Look Out For Fever.

Biliousness and liver disorders at this season may be prevented by cleansing the system with DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills do not gripe. They move the bowels gently but coupously, and by reason of the tonic properties give tone and strength to the glands.

A Playful Sheep.

Dr. W. B. Davidson, of the Cedar Springs country, was severely butted by a pet sheep on last Saturday afternoon. Dr. Davidson had for some time been finding amusement in playing with the sheep, which had learned to make sheep-like demonstrations of war, which carried the Doctor back to the days of his youth, when the Sunday was most pleasantly and profitably spent when the greatest number of butters could be hemmed in the barnyard. The warlike demonstrations amused the Doctor, but his eighty-one years of experience with the things of this life had taught him caution, that he could not repeat the performances of youth with impunity, even if physically able, therefore he would always cease his banterings just before the enemy would charge and had thereby escaped injury.

On last Saturday afternoon, however, the sheep slipped upon the "blind side" of the Doctor unawares and pounded him three times severely before he could recover, or relief came. Fortunately, the Doctor was only "stove up," but considers his escape a miracle. The sheep changed its address, it is said.—Allen County Times.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have.

Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Blackbirds as Tobacco Hands.

If this story from the Harrodsburg Herald is true the average tobacco grower might find it profitable to keep on hand a flock of domesticated blackbirds:

Mr. R. W. Anderson, of Shaker Bend, informed us of the great good done him by a flock of blackbirds some days ago. He had employed two men to worm his tobacco, and while they were standing on the back porch receiving instructions from him, myriads of the birds came out of the cliffs and lighted in the tobacco and began cleaning it of worms. Fearing that it would knock them out two or three days work, Mr. Anderson says one of them grabbed a shotgun and the other a rifle and started for the tobacco patch on a run to scare them away, but he stopped them and told them to let the birds alone and he would find something else for them to do. In an hour the birds flew away, and an investigation showed that not a worm was left. He put the men to work enlarging his tobacco barn.

Goes Like Hot Cakes.

"The fastest selling article I have in my store," writes druggist C. T. Smith, of Davis, Ky., "is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, because it always cures. In my six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from Throat and Lung diseases, who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy." Mothers rely on it, best physicians prescribe it, and Perry & Thomas guarantee satisfaction or refund price. Trial bottles free. Reg. sizes, 50c and $1.

War is Over.

A dispatch from Benwood, W. Va., says:

The familiar expression, "don't know the war is over" was exemplified to-day by William Wiley, of the backwaters of Wetzel county, who took his first ride on the "car" and came up here to visit relatives. He had not been away from his habitation on the headwaters of Fishing Creek since Lee's army surrendered, and for all he knew the "Yanks" and "Johnnies" were still firing away as he sang to a delighted street crowd the song "Secession Rebels," with a spirit that recalled the days of '61. There are 15 verses to the song, which has been the chief piece of music in his neck of the woods for 45 years. Wiley was much surprised that it did not have a better run among the city folks. As a singer Wiley succeeded in drawing a crowd, and he stated that after taking a pinch of salt he would be willing to go up against any of the church songsters.

Before returning to his mountain abode Mr. Wiley will be shown the sights of the city, although he has served notice on all that he refuses to ride on "them there keers that haint got no engine or no horses to pull them."

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. It's attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to one Minute Cough Cure. Liquidifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures croup, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga. "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took one Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal."

Theodore Roosevelt on "The Presidency."

Before his nomination for the Vice-Presidency Theodore Roosevelt wrote expressly for The Youth's Companion an article on "The Presidency." It will be published in the number for November 6, this being one of the remaining weekly issues of 1902 sent free from the time of subscription to every new subscriber who at once sends $1.75 for The Companion's 1903 volume. When this article on "The Presidency" was written no one could have foreseen or dreamed even that its author would soon be called upon to take up the duties of the great office. For this reason alone what Mr. Roosevelt has to say possesses extraordinary interest, and will be eagerly awaited by persons of all shades of political opinion.

A twenty-eight-page Prospectus of the 1903 volume of The Youth's Companion and sample copies of the paper will be sent free to any address.

The State Secretary of the Kentucky Children's Home Society has sent out a communication to all the papers in the state calling attention to a law enacted by the last legislature to regulate the importation into this state of dependent children from other states. Owing to the fact that we have hitherto had no prohibitory laws, Kentucky has been imposed upon by other states who have sent not only dependent, destitute, and feeble minded children, but have placed a large number of criminal children from penal institutions here to become charges upon us. Unquestionably this law should be rigidly enforced and those found guilty of violating it should be vigorously punished, and it is to assist them in finding out violations of the law that the Society asks the Co-operation of the state press. The Kentucky Children's Home Society has done a noble work, and should receive the help and assistance of all good citizens in so laudable a work.

Roosevelt is crippled, Hanna sick, Henderson sick, in fact about the whole Republican gang are either sick, crippled, disgruntled, disgusted or on the run. All the Democrats have to do is to continue the bombardment with anti-trust, monopoly and un-American policy truths and government of the people, for the people and by the people will be restored.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Miss Ida M. Snyder.

President of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. "If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctor's prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McCre's Wine of Cardui and Theodore's Black-Drum, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.
